On Wednesday, we had our second Business & Community Partnership Breakfast of this school year. Guest Speaker, Mr. Phil Castellini, COO Cincinnati Reds, spoke about "Building Business Partnerships" and shared how important it is to connect with your community. With 243 people in attendance, the energy was high and our students came prepared to make a strong impression.

Congratulations to our National Honor Society Inductees

Norma Ailon Mendez, Wendy Ailon Velasquez, Jacqueline Alonso, Jaylynn Chun-Domingo, London Dennie, Andrew Edrington, Mariah Ellington, Baneza Escalante Roblero, Kortnee Hughes, Dalila Jacobo Ramirez, Gedeon Kebede, Amelia Martin, Ava Moore, Liam Morgenroth, Fatima Nzale, Jason Nolasco Pedro, Maria Ortiz Mendoza, Yesenia Perez, James Spears, Emily Villatoro-Mendez, Hannah Voegele, Jaydon White, and Natalie Williams. Wednesday evening's Induction Ceremony is yet another example of the high standards of scholarship, leadership, service, and character that empower our students.

Looking ahead - two of the most inspiring events take place next week. The Veterans Day Concert, held annually on November 11th, never disappoints. This year, three veterans will be recipients of a Princeton High School diploma because they were serving our country and unable to graduate. I guarantee you that during this concert, your heart will be bursting with Princeton Pride - you don't want to miss it!

An inspiring group of Distinguished Alumni honorees are going to be inducted into the Hall of Fame on Saturday, November 13th! I know the Princeton Education Foundation and the Board of Education share my appreciation and admiration for each of these individuals and how they have continued to make their positive mark in the world since graduating from Princeton City Schools. If you want to be inspired by how Princeton has and continues to change the world, join us and reserve your spot by Monday, November 8th.
