

Teacher Appreciation Week

Dear Princeton Families,

May always seems to arrive quicker than expected. Perhaps it is because the end of the school year is so near. Be that as it is, it is here and as always, we are going to close out an amazing school year. This year has certainly challenged us in ways that provided opportunities for growth. I realize that we could never accomplish what we did without your incredible effort.

This week is Teacher Appreciation Week. However, we should show appreciation throughout the year. Thank you to all our staff regardless of their official titles. After all, all employees are teachers who model best practices, shape daily events and empower each student for college, career, and life success.

As many of you know, Tommy, the last Burton child, will be graduating in a couple of weeks. Since arriving in Princeton in sixth grade, he has been nurtured, encouraged, pushed, and cared for by passionate educators. As a parent and the superintendent of Princeton, I am grateful each day for the great work our teachers have done in shaping Tommy and each student in the Princeton City School District throughout their educational journey.

Our teachers are worthy of our celebration today and every day of the year. Please join me in honoring our teachers by sharing your appreciation with them by giving a shout-out on this quick form: <https://forms.gle/HMHWhNtPQbKCF7sz9>

Respectfully,

Tom Burton
